

RE: Archaeological Assessment of 7449 Montrose Road

A Stage 1-2 archaeological assessment was conducted for the entire property. A portion of the property was found to be disturbed and not physically assessed but determined to have no further archaeological potential. Terminology in the report refers to this as visually disturbed, not assessed. The MHSTCI has acknowledged that this area is disturbed and does not retain archaeological potential and that "No further assessment of the property is necessary". Visually disturbed, not assessed is standard terminology for areas not retaining archaeological potential due to disturbance.

I can confirm that the area identified as disturbed does not require assessment and is considered addressed and that the entirety of the study area does not retain any further archaeological concern.

Please don't hesitate to contact me if I can clarify anything further.

Thank you,
